ACCIDENTALLY SHOOTS FATHER

Will Marshall, Age Twelve, of Near Arlington, Fatal Wounds Os-l
car Marshall, Age Sixty.

SHOT DISCHARGED IN HIS SIDE

Gun Explodes When Father Stops
to Inspect Apple Tree and Hands it to His Son.

Oscar Marshall, 60 years old, a well known farmer, was accidentally shot and almost instantly killed by his twelve-year-old son, Will Marshall, yesterday afternoon about five o'clock. The shooting occurred in the orchard at the Marshall home, two miles northeast of Arlington.

The father and boy had been out in a field cutting weeds and had taken the shot gun along, thinking they might get a shot at a squirrel. They were returning to the house when the accident occurred. Mr. Marshall had just taken a shot at a bird, and while he was examining a tree in the orchard, handed the gun to the boy. The boy turned, and as he threw the gun over his shoulder, it exploded.

The charge from the gun entered Mr. Marshall's right side, almost tearing off the right arm. He was not over three feet from the gun when it exploded. The shot gun was double-barrelled. It is believed that Mr. Marshall had forgotten about another shell being in the gun when he handed it to the boy.

The boy, seeing what had happened, ran to the house and summoned aid. Mr. Marshall was dead when help reached his side and death was believed to have been almost instant.

Immediately following the shooting wild rumors of murder reached this city and Deputy Sheriff Sullivan and Policeman Yakey hurried to the scene. The coroner investigated and the boy is not held, as it is believed to have been purely accidental. The son was almost overcome by the tragedy and could hardly tell the story to the coroner and officers.

Mr. Marshall had lived in the Arlington neighborhood for many years and was highly respected. He is survived by his widow and five children, Dewey, Miss Louise, Will, and Mrs. Erma Woods and Mrs. Letha Winkler.

The funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at one thirty o'clock in the Arlington Christian church and burial will take place in the East Hill cemetery there.

FLATROCK GETS OUT OF BANKS

For First Time in Years River Over-
flows in July and Lowlands
Are All Flooded.

WATER IS RECEDING TODAY

Government Register Shows 1.55
Inches of Water Fell in Less Than Two Hours.

For the first time in years Flatrock overflowed its banks in the month of July. The rain of Wednesday night was known to be very heavy, but very few people realized that it was heavy enough to cause the river to overflow in the lowlands. The river started to rise early yesterday morning and by last night all the surrounding lands were under water. The oldest residents here do not recall a time when the river has been as high at this time of the year. The water went down rapidly today and all danger of a flood passed.

According to the official government register at the home of Elwood Kirkwood at Mauzy, 1.55 inches of water fell in the two hours or less of rainfall on Wednesday night. Mr. Kirkwood stated today that this was the largest amount of rainfall at any one time since the first of the year, and was the most water for so short a time.

North of the city the water completely covered the fields in the lowlands. At the bridge east of the Jacob Parrish farm, the water was three feet over the road and it was impassable until late last evening. The water covered the pasture land of John Boyd, south of the city and early this morning the ball park was completely under water. The water at the ball park receded rapidly but was still standing next to the grand stand this afternoon. The water there for the most part is back water from the river.

A carnival company at the ball park called for help early this morning. A piano used there was hauled to this city. This part of the grounds dried off rapidly, however. The ground is completely saturated with water.

The first motor boat ever owned in Rushville, which has afforded a lot of pleasure to many people on Flatrock this summer, now reposes at the bottom of the river. Dr. Will C. Smith and Fred Caldwell, who have been living, together with their families, in the Green summer cottage, opposite the dam, were out sight-seeing yesterday afternoon taking advantage of the high water to go far up the river. The engine on the boat went "dead" and they were rowing back to the cottage. In passing under some trees someone in the boat grabbed a limb and the boat upset and the men had to swim to the shore.

The boat is owned by Dr. Frank Green and he has offered a reward for the recovery. It is expected that the boat will be located as soon as the water recedes. The boat could easily have gone over the dam as the water at one time was three feet over the dam. The Caldwell and Smith families became alarmed early yesterday morning and moved their things out of the cottage, but the water did not reach it.

On the south of the city the water did not approach the Jones training stable at a close enough distance to compel them to move out. The lowlands near the Big Four bridge is under water but the high stage is believed to have passed.

EXAMINATIONS TO BE JULY 28

Date For Tests of Children in Better Babies Contest is Announced Today.

HOURS NOT DESIGNATED YET

Attention of Mothers Directed to
Fact That No Invitations Are
Sent Out This Year.

It was announced today by those who are managing the better babies contest in connection with the Rush county chautauqua that the examinations of the babies entered in the contest will be held at the Graham school building Wednesday, July 28. The hours for the examination have not been definitely settled, but will be announced later.

The mental and physical tests will be made at that time and the winners of the medals will be announced Saturday afternoon of the chautauqua. There will be three first prizes to be awarded as follows: one to the best girl baby outside of the city of Rushville, one to the best boy baby outside the city of Rushville and the best boy or girl baby in the city.

The age limit this year was increased twelve months this year so that many babies in the contest last year might be entered again this year. Any baby between twelve and thirty-six months of age may have a chance at the medals.

Attention of mothers with eligible children is directed to the fact that no invitations or application blanks will be sent out this year because of the expense attached. That was necessary when the contest was first instituted here. But now any mother with a child within the designated age li imthsulod age limit should feel free to enter, it is stated. The better babies contest committee today gave out the following publication:

"The Better Babies Contest is a popular yet scientific movement to insure better babies and a better race. It consists of entering-examining and awarding prizes to children on exactly the same basis principles that are applied to live stock shows. Mere beauty does not count. Physical and mental development only are considered. The Better Babies Contest insures a better race of Americans, because it teaches parents how to improve the physical condition of children already born and to protect those yet unborn. It arouses interest in the conservation of child life and health and in all forms of child welfare. It forges a connecting link between parents and teachers, between the homes and the scientific study of child life. It promotes civic interest in the children of the community.

Halifax, N. S., July 9.—The violent explosion which preceded the fire on the Minnehaha, that arrived here today, occurred at four-fifteen o'clock Wednesday afternoon. the time mentioned by Frank Holt, assailant of J. P. Morgan. Holt, before he committed suicide, said that he had placed a bomb on vessels sailing from New York July 3 timed to explode Wednesday afternoon, July 7, at four-fifteen o'clock. The story of the explosion as recited by Captain Claret of the Minnehaha practically makes certain that the Minnehaha was one marked for destruction by Holt.

The Minnehaha arrived here shortly before eleven o'clock. She was not allowed to dock and no one from the shore was permitted to go on board. Captain Claret would make no statement before noon.

GERMAN REPLY IS BEING CODED NOW

Answer to Second American Note in Lusitania Case is Handed to Ambassador Gerard.

IS BELIEVED UNSATISFACTORY

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Berlin, (By Way of The Hague,) July 9.—Clerks at the American embassy were today engaged in coding the German reply to the second American note regarding the Lusitania. The communication was handed to Ambassador Gerard last night and the work of preparing it for transmission to Washington began this forenoon.

The note is lengthy and because of the fact that it must be translated into English and coded with the greatest care the time of its receipt at Washington can not be accurately forecasted.

It was generally believed that it would be unsatisfactory. The ambassador's forecast revealed its terms. Officials were hopeful, however, that it could be made the basis for further negotiations and that the situation would not become critical.

DRAWS $25 AND 30 DAYS IN JAIL

George M. Ray is Sentenced Today
by Judge Collins For Contempt
of Court.

DECLARES HE WILL APPEAL

Herald Editor Files Answer in Which
he Says Editorial Was Based
on "Common Rumor."

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 9.—George M. Ray, editor of the Herald, was today fined $25 and sentenced to serve thirty days in the Marion county jail for contempt of court.

Judge Collins took this action after he had considered Ray's answer to the citation and Prosecutor Rusk's reply. Ray said he would appeal.

Ray published an editorial in which he accused Judge Collins of exercising undue influence over the grand jury that indicted Thomas Taggart, Mayor Bell and over one hundred other Indiana politicians.

Ray today filed an answer to the charge for contempt of court in which he said the editorial he published concerning Judge Collins was based on "common rumor."

The case has a connection with the recent indictment of Thomas Taggart, and Mayor Joseph E. Bell and 126 other Indiana politicians, but it was uncertain whether Ray would have the backing of these prominent men in his fight.

The case was continued from July 1 in order that Ray might prepare an answer to the charges. When the case first came up Ray made the plea that he had not had time to investigate the charges and that he wished to employ an attorney although he said he had spent so much money lately for legal services that he did not know whether he could afford to retain counsel.

Ray was cited for contempt for the publication of an editorial in his to convey the impression to the publisher, which, it is charged, tended lie that Judge Collins and others were attempting to coerce the Marion county grand jury into indicting Democrats, and that members of the grand jury were being induced improperly to return indictments.

SIX-YEAR OLD BOY SAYS HE WANTS TO BE BADMAN

Boston, July 7.—Recently an Everett policeman captured a small boy of six years in the act of stealing a jar of milk from a doorstep. At the station house a third degree inquisition resulted in the boy giving the names of four other lads who have been engaged in a series of misdemeanors that have been causing Everett citizens considerable annoyance.

The oldest of the lot is 14 and the youngest was the lad taken into custody. According to the young "desperado" each boy took oaths to be real bandits. The boy arrested recited the following as the text of the pledge: "I will be bad, just as bad as I know how and I will read up detective stories and such things to find new ways of being bad and if one of us gets caught and sent away, the rest of us will keep on being bad until we are all caught and sent to the same place. Then we will all escape and be bad until we are caught again."

The Department says the wood pigeon like the dodo, has long been extinct and that it is not offering any reward, despite hundreds of letters which have inquired about the alleged offer.

DR. F. G. HACKLEMAN

ident Wilson in 1916. Listen to this: "Several months ago I was not
impressed with the chances of a Democratic victory. The people
were blaming the Democratic party
for the hard times, and were declaring openly that they would vote to displace them next year. Just the opposite is heard now." Then he hedges a little bit with this refreshing statement: "I have no means of
knowing whether he (the President)
will consent to a renomination, but
certainly if the Democrats can win
at all they can win with Wilson." He concludes by commenting on improvement of business, but makes
no mention of the cause—the European war.

In delivering what proved to be his
swan song, in June of last year,
former Congressman Connolly said:
"I believe the people of this country
want to decide for themselves as to
the potentiality for good in their
public men."

Becoming inflated with self-generated "potentiality" Congressman
Connolly aspired to senatorial
laurels and sought to snatch the
wreath from the brow of Senator
Cummins in the last election. He missed the wreath but the voters
of Iowa gave him a garland of im-
mortelles instead, and the obsequies
were simple. In the meantime the 3rd Iowa District which Mr. Connolly
had bamboozled for two years,
slipped into the safe and sane column and elected Burton E. Sweet, a Republican to Congress.

Civic Pride Lacking

There are many people in Rush-
ville who would like to see the city
park kept in good condition so that it would be an attractive place. It is generally agreed that many things
could be done in the park to beautify
it. The general belief was when the Coliseum was erected there that
more interest would be taken in the park and that it would come to be
a place for recreation but the Coliseum nor the public playgrounds offered no inducements for the authorities to fix up the park so that would be desirable for something
more than a cow pasture.

The Daughters of the American Revolution sought to arouse the spirit of pride in the city by starting
a movement to beautify the park.
Not long ago they planted some
trees in the park and built some
flower beds, but their efforts found
no response. But for the playgrounds and the chautauqua, the
park would be a mass of weeds.

There probably isn't a city any-
place possessing a park with the
natural beauties of the park here
which neglects its opportunities the way Rushville has. It is quite true
that some work was done on the
trees, and it was commendable too,
but that was a poor place to stop.
There is none to deny that the grass
in the park should be cut and a system of walks at least put in. The flower beds and other attractive features could come in time. It appears that some civic pride should
be aroused in Rushville in some way
so that proper interest should be taken in the park.

Muncie is confronted with the same
problem as Rushville, in so far as
parking automobiles is concerned.
The question has been before the city
council and Commercial Club there,
with a view to reaching some tangible solution. Muncie is not so well
fixed as Rushville because it has no
hitch yard. Rushville is fortunate in having one, but it does not offer a solution of the automobile parking
problem. It is reported that the council intends to move slowly in solving the problem. It is generally agreed that lining the streets
with automobiles and obstructing
traffic is an evil and the sooner it
is ended the better.

We were dutifully shocked when
women commenced to ride astride
and wear breeches, but we survived.
Now we have the "closer to nature"
women who dance bare legged on the
grass, and our sight is growing dim.
Tomorrow it will be "back to the Garden of Eden" and we'll just
naturally fall dead.

caught fish, dug ginseng, hunted bees
and the like and lived on the fat of

SEGREGATION DOES NOT HELP WOMEN TO REFORM.

Cleveland, July 8.—In the mind
of Blanche Moulton, Queen of the Tenderloin until Cleveland wiped out
its segregated district a few weeks
ago, there is a picture of a family
hearth, and in her ears ring the
voices of two children who will call
her mother, after long years when
they knew her only as "aunt."

Blanche Moulton will return to normal life and marriage, for the man who would marry her has for-
given her past, she says.

In her expensively furnished sitting room of the house that once was
the pride of the tenderloin, she stood
the other day with a dust cloth in her
hand and a big white apron protecting a plain gingham dress from the dust. And she told a story of the gay, false glamor of the underworld
that surprised those who had known Blanche in the old days—just a week
or so ago.

"The easiest way? Faugh! It is the hardest way! There is nothing in it—no real compensation when the
books are balanced; It's just plain
hell!"

That's the way Blanche pictured
the life she abandoned, after twenty-
nine years in the tenderloin.

"It's having always with you the thought that you're an outcast. It's seeing the sneer on the faces of the men who come to the district—it's never knowing a godo man. Every man who refused to come down here
had the respect of the women, even though they didn't know who he was.
The shop girl earning her stingy
wages is better off than the woman
of the tenderloin with silks and ten
pairs of shoes. People think I'm rich. It's a dream—there is not even
money in the easiest way."

SOCIETY WOMEN CAUSE TALK

Two Prominent in "Four Hundred"
Take Homeless Little Folks to

(By United Press.)

Denver, Colo., July 9.—"It makes me tired to hear a woman who has
no children and who is financially
able to care for a child, tell how
fond she is of children and how unhappy she is in her childless condition," said Mrs. Edward Welles Collins, daughter of former governor
Routt who has herself adopted an orphan girl.

"If she really were fond of children, she would mother one of the poor orphan babies that plead for a mother's love.

"A woman who can give a mother's love only to the child of her
own flesh is not really fond of children. She has affection for her own
child because it is a part of herself
—it is vanity more than affection.

"The true mother's love is a universal love—a love that embraces all
children.

"I have never seen a child that I could not love. I love the dirtiest
and ugliest along with the cleanest
and most beautiful."

Something of a stir was created
in Denver society when Mrs. Collins
and another of its prominent young matrons—Mrs. J. J. Benedict, daughter of Junius F. Brown who left a large fortune—adopted children. The Benedicts took in a 6-months-old orphan boy. Mrs. Collins now has a 4-year-old foster
daughter adopted eight months ago.
Mrs. Collins believes it is the duty
of the childless woman of means to
take into her heart and home some motherless child.

"When I think of the comfortable
homes that need children and the children that need homes I could weep. Why can't they be brought together? Many women go through life childless, without missing the love of children. Some are women
who are talented—who find their
music, their painting or their writing
sufficient. Others are women who
make bridge playing their life work.
It is just as well that these remain childless. Think of the poor children who could have to call such
women mothers."

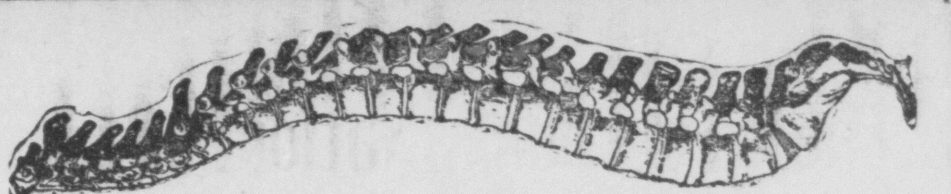

Mrs. Collins, who is a talented
vocalist, stated she finds just as much time for her art since she
adopted the little girl as she found
previously.

Three children born to the Bene-
dicts died in infancy.

NO GAME HERE THIS SUNDAY

Because Park is Under Water Director Believe Playing Would be Almost Impossible.

CONNERSVILLE JULY 18

Remington Suffers Loss When Bridge Washes Away and Will Play Here Week From Sunday.

The game scheduled between the Rushers and the Perkins-Campbell team for Sunday afternoon has been called off on account of the high water and as a result the Rushville team will be inactive Sunday. The water completely covered the diamond this morning and at a late hour today was up to the first seats in the grand stand. The club directors after looking over the grounds believed that a game for Sunday would be impossible.

The Connerville team has been booked for its first appearance of the season here one week from Sunday. This will be good news for the fans as these two teams are ancient rivals. Manager Remington suffered a heavy loss yesterday from the flood that hit Connerville. His bridge over the river to the ball park was washed away and it will be impossible for Remington to play there for at least three weeks. For this reason the Connerville team was secured for the attraction here July 18. The loss to Mr. Remington will be quite heavy financially.

The Connerville team will play in Richmond this Sunday. The breaking up of the Indiana State League will have little effect on the class of ball to be played here. With Connerville booked and Newcastle booked the fans will get to see their favorite teams in action.

The Rushville team will be strengthened where it needs be and from this time on the team will play ball.

MAKE OR LOSE FORTUNE FAST

Races at Panama Exposition Demonstrate One Way to Separate Yourself From Money

SOME INSTANCES CITED

Spriggan, Who Won $10,000 Purse Purchased at an Auction in February for $750

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, July 9.—Buy a fast harness horse and make a fortune over night. Also if you have a fortune to lose quicker than instantly—just purchase a fast harness horse.

It was demonstrated during the recent harness race meet held at the Panama Pacific Exposition that either of these theories for grabbing a fortune or losing it may be followed with success. In other words, despite the encroachment of the automobile upon the horse domain, racing is still a great little game in which the chances of big gains or heavy losses are just as great as ever.

The Exposition meet was marked by racing for some of the richest purses in the history of the harness game. Two horses which were the central figure in the richest events—the $20,000 trot and $20,000 pace, furnish the theme for the story.

The $20,000 trot was won by Spriggan, a big rangy horse owned by two San Francisco horsemen. Spriggan won $10,000 for his owners when he led a field of twelve to the wire in straight heats.

And they paid but $750 for him at an auction in February. The man who let go of the horse at this price was none other than R. J. MacKenzie, the millionaire Canadian horseman. Where MacKenzie pocketed a few hundred, the purchasers of Spriggan pocketed thousands four months afterward.

Now for the other side of the story. The favorite for the $20,000 pace in the early betting was Dr. Burns Jr., owned by Ireland and Leach, of Detroit. Dr. Burns was one of the most sensational performers on the eastern tracks. He was a big stake winner and it is doubtful whether $20,000 would have bought him.

Along in March while working a mile in Los Angeles a man stepped out on the track as Dr. Burns headed into the stretch. His driver had to pull the horse up sharply and he slipped on the wet track, wrenching his leg. Arriving in San Francisco Dr. Burns was brought along slowly, and a couple of weeks before the $20,000 pace was scheduled showed a mile in 2:06 1—2 without giving any evidence of the injury suffered at Los Angeles bothering him.

A week before the big race he was started in one of the regular events. When the second heat was over it was seen Dr. Burns' leg was in bad shape. His value as a race horse shriveled to nothing. For days afterward Dr. Burns was led into the surf in the hope that salt water treatment would improve his leg so that he might be safely shipped back to his home. Dr. Burns will spend his time this summer on the Ireland and Leach farm near Detroit instead of serving as one of the biggest money getters of his owners.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, July 9.—Hardly a baseball season passes without producing a "Jinx" pitcher—one that is a mediocre performer against six clubs, and is a world-beater against the seventh. He simply "has it on" that club. It isn't his speed, it isn't his curves, or his control, or a change of pace, or anything like that, Old Baseball men don't attempt to explain it except by that one word J-I-N-X.

This season's mysterious person is tall lanky Carl Weilman of the St. Louis Browns, and the goat club is Hughey Jennings Tigers. This season, and, in fact ever since he kicked his way into the big show, the lanky Weilman has beaten the Tigers consistently. A short time ago he beat them twice in the same series, and that was all that was needed to convince the Detroiters that he is their Jinx.

Yet Weilman will go up against a weak hitting club like either Washington or Cleveland and they'll all but knock his brains out. Cobb, Crawford, Veach, Bush and the rest of that famed wrecking crew look like bushers against the lean Brown, while some rookie will go up and plant the ball over the fence.

Dusting off the records in the dim archives of baseball history, it is seen that there have been many Jinxes. It will be remembered that for a long time the Cincinnati Reds couldn't beat Mathewson. Of course, there were a lot of other clubs in the same fix, but they did manage to sneak a game from the Old Master now and then, but the Reds—never.

A case a little more recent is that of A. Rankin Johnson, who beat the Washington club, Walter Johnson up, every time he worked against it. Rankin wasn't a wonderful pitcher, he was just average, if that, and after he leaped to the feds he had a lot of difficulty in winning games. But he had Clark Griffith's goat.

Tom Hughes, the old Washington pitcher, cast the same sort of a spell over Cleveland. When Tom was in his prime, Washington never was out of the cellar. About all the games the Senators won were due to his prowess. He didn't look so good against other clubs, but Cleveland had no chance at all.

Eddie Summers, the old Tiger star made the Athletics eat out of his hand during his sojourn in the American league. One day, the last season he had, he beat them a double-header and Connie Mack heaved a sigh of relief when Summers hit the boggan the next season.

Jim Scott of the White Sox also has some sort of a charm over the Mackmen though not to so marked a degree.

WILL BE PLAYED TUESDAY

Game Between Red Men and K. of C.'s Postponed by Flood.

The ball game scheduled for this afternoon in the Fraternal League between the K. of C.'s and the Red Men was postponed until next Tuesday on account of the condition of Edgewater park. The heavy rain of Wednesday night caused the river to overflow and the park is under water. There was no chance to play unless canoes were used. This was to have been the opening game of the league and will be carried over until Tuesday afternoon. The game will be called at three-fifteen o'clock.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

DENVER WOMAN SAYS GIRLS ARE FAILURES IN BUSINESS

Denver, Colo., July 9.—Girls, you are no good in business; A woman said so.

Mrs. E. A. Hodgkins, instructor and advisor of employees in Denver's Department stores speak with authority.

“If I were the owner of a large store I would employ only men. Women have only their intuition to depend upon to succeed in the business world. They lack judgement and reasoning power. They do a thing but cannot tell why they do it. Their inherent inability to give a reason when asking prevents them from being as valuable as men.”

These are Mrs. Hodgkins words. Her professional title is “efficiency expert.”

“Women are paid less than men not because their sex is unfairly treated,” Mrs. Hodgkins continued, “but because they are worth less. I do not say that women are utterly unfit to be in the business world but certainly, if I were an employer, I would hire men in preference to women. I should consider women too much of a risk. There are many exceptionally well-balanced women but even they are likely to fail when it comes to a matter of reasoning. A woman gambles where a man reasons.”

“A saleswoman may increase the profits of her department, but ask her how she did it, and she can't tell you. She took chances, trusting to her intuition. Women never will deserve equal pay with men in business until they develop correct reasoning powers, and I fear that will not be for a long time—not perhaps, until a new race is developed.”

PATHETIC TALES NOT ALL TOLD

Human Interest Episodes Connected With Sinking of Lusitania Being Recited Now

MESSAGE FOR VANDERBILT

No Reporter Told How Body Found Might Have Been Identified as Hubbard's

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, June 21: (By Mail to New York)—Some of the touches of human interest resulting from the sinking of the great Cunarder Lusitania off the Southern coast of Ireland on May 7 were not told in the cables.

Little incidents at Queenstown where the survivors and lifeless victims were dwarfed by the more striking details sent back by the London reporters despatched to the scene to gather the narratives of survivors.

They failed to tell at the time how for a three days a telegram addressed to Alfred G. Vanderbilt remained on file at the Queens hotel. The hotel office was a veritable clearing house for telegrams to survivors. Hundreds of them were placed in a pile and as application was made, the clerk simply handed over the pile. Every person who applied “pawed” over the ever increasing bundle and each one paused for a moment as he came across the telegram addressed to Vanderbilt. He believed that Vanderbilt at that moment was dead; either floating about somewhere on the ocean or amid the tangled mass that was a short time before the great Lusitania.

No reporter in his rush to cable more salient facts thought to touch upon the finding of a body that might easily be hurriedly identified as that of Elbert Hubbard in the stone hall morgue along with the thirty other corpses. The lines of the face the apparel and other points readily appealed to the American newspapermen who had seen Hubbard in life. But it lacked one feature—the flowing necktie. And this one point stopped the reporters from rushing to the telegraph office to “flash” the news that Hubbard's body was found. They had no incentive to jump at conclusions. They were willing to send reports as reports developed but were loath to make news out of the ghastly surroundings.

It was unaccounted how a prominent resident of a New England manufacturing city wandered for two days aimlessly searching for his missing family; how he finally connected with a kindhearted man who listened to his disconnected story and aided him in a search of the morgues. It wasn't related how strong men hysterically laughed as they told of parting from their loved ones as the Lusitania sank; how they were themselves saved and had since failed to find their wives or daughters or sons.

The story of how a prominent American auto manufacturer, clad in makeshift garments, spent the night in a tiny second rate hotel room without a blanket to cover him wasn't told to the reporters. He declined an interview in true American magnate fashion as he left the Queenstown railroad station.

Little was said of how the kind hearted people of Queenstown opened their homes to care for women surveyors who had lost all and in many cases husbands, sons and daughters. A certain doctor's wife appropriated every cot in the neighborhood and cared for all that came. Another motherly Irish woman took charge of three children and sent her husband to the morgues in an effort to find their parents. Another unwritten incident of the disaster might have been the efforts of a survivor to “press agent” his American breweries. Seeking the newspapermen to tell them of his experience he also incidentally related in a loud blustery manner, how, he, alone, had saved 47 women and children during the trying moments aboard the Lusitania. The story sounded fishy.

Emphasizing the enormous death roll of the Lusitania list, the Cunard offices in Queenstown, after three days, returned to the telegraph office hundreds of telegrams to persons who were either dead in morgues or unaccounted for. From the day following the disaster telegrams began to flow in at the Cunard offices. All survivors were hurriedly listed their telegrams were sent to various hotels or places where they were domiciled. When all possible had been delivered the balance were returned stamped “unclaimed.”

Postoffice telegraph officials at Queenstown sent and received more telegrams and cables during the memorable three days in the little harbor town than an aggregate of similar business during the fiscal year.

BARN HIT BY LIGHTNING

Storm Does Other Damage Near Lewisville, Damaging a House

The barn on Morris Cox's farm one mile east of Lewisville was struck by lightning Wednesday night and burned down, with all of its contents. One horse was burned. Mr. Cox was in the barn at the time the bolt hit, but aside from a slight shock he sustained no injury. The amount of Mr. Cox's loss, and the insurance, could not be obtained this morning.

The Presbyterian parsonage, in Lewisville was struck, but the damage was very slight, and no fire ensued, nor did the family suffer any shock.

During the electrical storm accompanying the rain, lightning struck a shock of wheat on the farm of S. W. Pickering, but the down-pour of rain prevented the fire spreading to other shocks in the field.

BETTER TOWN SINCE POOL ROOMS CLOSED

Waco, Tex., July 9.—After one year's trial of closed pool rooms Waco, the first large city in Texas to abolish the pool hall, is in a better condition, morally, than ever before prominent ministers today told the United Press. With a population of 50,000 and surrounded by the most populous country in the state, the pool rooms were ousted a year ago.

“When the pool rooms closed the shark and cue crook was driven from the city,” one prominent churehman declared. “The youth who loved the game for the sport went to the Y. M. C. A. and the church basement. The larger churches have installed pool tables under morally proper supervision.”

THIRTY-ONE ARE KNOWN DEAD NOW

Latest Estimates Place Possible

Dead Toll in Cincinnati Tornado at Forty-Five

PROPERTY LOSS OVER MILLION

At Least Six Are Buried in Hulks of Sunken Steamboats—About

150 Are Injured

(By United Press.)

Cincinnati, O., July 9.—Thirty-one known dead, with an estimated total of forty-five lives lost and property loss of over one million dollars, is the latest summing up of the havoc wrought by Wednesday night's tornado.

Police searching for missing persons stated today they believe those unaccounted for are dead. At least six are believed to be buried in the hulks of sunken steamboats in the Ohio river. About one hundred and fifty are injured, some seriously.

A succession of tragedies were developed and pathetic incidents were so numerous and widespread that the human mind could hardly grasp the magnitude of the calamity that had come almost without warning, and had occupied less than 10 minutes in its enactment. Many homes were saddened by the death or maiming of loved ones.

Eleven members of two families, the Cohens of Eight street, and the Tennebaums, of Sixth street, cousins were killed by being buried under the debris of their homes. Other fatalities were scattered over the city. Above all the dreadful harvest of death and desolation marked by a train of wreckage and human suffering stood forth the sublime truth that mankind is pitifully helpless in a contest with the forces of nature.

That the storm was made up of cyclonic waves was demonstrated by the odd pranks that were played. It was a wild orgy and rampage of the elements. Particularly on the hill-tops did the wind display its weird eccentricity. In some places its intensity varied, moving in eddies of irresistible power, wrecking one house and leaving another within a few feet untouched, and in others as balmy and harmless as a zephyr.

The elemental hand was laid heaviest upon the lower part of the city, and for once the surrounding hills did not shelter the basin in which the older part of Cincinnati lies. In the morgue yesterday were more dead than ever reposed in that ghoulish place at one time. The faces of some of the victims were distorted with terror, their bodies marred, while others met a merciful end so quickly that their countenances were peaceful and without trace of pain.

Considering the suddenness of the visitation it appears that the toll of lives is not large, and the thousands at summer resorts, in pleasure craft on the river and variously engaged in the pursuit of amusement may feel grateful for their escape.

TO MAKE FIGHT FOR PLANK

Democratic Committeeman Wants

Government Owned Warehouses

(By United Press.)

Grand Forks, N. D., July 8.—The Democratic National platform in 1916 will provide for the establishing of government owned warehouses for grain and produce if the efforts of the state committeemen in North Dakota are successful, according to a statement made today by F. O. Hellstrom, candidate for the governorship on the Democratic ticket at the last election and now a candidate for national committeeman. The provision in the platform if adopted will also provide for government grading and relugation of grain besides a feature making it possible for farmers to borrow money on eighty per cent of the crop stored in the warehouse and valued at an average value for the past twenty years.

Committeemen in this state will be elected next March.

APPEAL MADE TO
INDIANA FARMER

He is Asked to Contribute Small

Fraction of His Crop For Relief of Belgians.

FIVE MILLION ARE IN NEED

America Must Give Greater Share to Air Stricken People, Commission Declares.

The present year bids fair to be one of the most prosperous among many bounteous years for Indiana farmers. With the world at war and the agriculturists of the struggling nations drafted from their peaceful and productive pursuits to the colors, it is incumbent upon America, the great neutral agricultural country of the western hemisphere to feed the world. This means high prices for products, and Indiana farmers are already reasonably assured of a generous harvest. In an appeal to the farmers of the state the Indiana Commission for Relief in Belgium says as follows:

"Surrounded as is America, with peace and plenty, permit us to call your attention to the sad plight of a heroic little nation, once prosperous in its agricultural pursuits and manufacturing industries, and now desolate and in a state of chaos as result of a cruel war brought on by circumstances beyond its control. We refer to the pitiful condition of Belgium, where more than five millions of the civil population are today without means of sustenance other than such as is contributed to them gratuitously by the nations of the world not engaged in the present conflict. Of these neutral nations America, being the largest and most prosperous, must of course contribute the greater share.

"The Commission for Relief in Belgium has organized the several states of the union and is appealing to the generosity of the prosperous American people to contribute their part to this most charitable cause. The Indiana committee of this commission is at present moment organizing in every county in this state, a local committee to make more vividly plain to the people within its borders the actual needs of the Belgian people, and to solicit food and funds for their effective aid.

"The committee hopes that this great state may be able to send to starving Belgium an 'Indiana ship' laden with the food products of the state, and with provender purchased by such cash funds as may be contributed from within the state. Our surrounding sister states have done as much, and Indiana, as a matter of state pride, ought not to be left behind her neighbors.

"To you, farmers of Indiana, an appeal will be made by your local county committee that each of you contribute at harvest time a small fractional part of your wheat crop toward the carrying of this 'Indiana ship.' It is the belief of this community that wheat should constitute the main contribution of the farmers of this state, since wheat is the leading agricultural product of Indiana of high nutritive value. Assuredly any and all articles of food possessing high nutritive value at low cost are to be desired as a part of the cargo of the 'Indiana ship.' All money donated this committee for this cause will be turned into food within the state insofar as is practicable to do so.

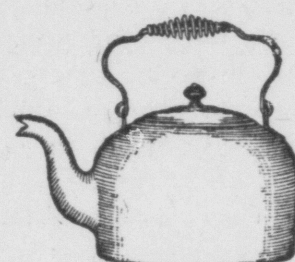

"In conclusion, we appeal to the prosperous farmers of Indiana to do their share as a matter of state pride as well as a matter of benevolent charity toward the carrying of the 'Indiana ship,' and we sincerely trust that you will harken to the call when you are approached for a contribution by your local committee. In the name of the people of suffering Belgium, we thank you for your Christian generosity."

The play which was to have been given tonight by the Arlington Epworth league has been postponed on account of the death of Oscar Marshall.

Cost of Living Goes up as Private

Business And Government Revenues Decline

GOVERNMENT REPORTS SHOW

Recalled Protective Tariff Was Denounced as Raid on Workingman's Pantry

Washington, July 8.—The cost of living advances as private business and Government revenues decline. The foreign food producer gleefully pocketed the free trade margin promised the consumer. The farmer's prices are set by his foreign competitor and the laboring man is without the wherewithal to purchase from either. These are facts brought to light by Government reports.

The argument which stood out more prominently than any other in the tariff controversy of the past years was the contention of the Democrats that the prime influence on the cost of living was the tariff. They denounced the protective policy as a raid on the pantry of the workingman, and a tribute exacted from the very warp and woof of the cloth in which he wore. Speaker Champ Clark cried from the housetops, "the cost of living by reason of the high tariff and trusts has become so high that it is with extreme difficulty that millions of people manage to live at all."

The first plank in the Democratic platform of 1912 declared for "tariff reform," and read as follows:—

"The high cost of living is a serious problem in every American home. The Republican party, in its platform, attempts to escape from responsibility for present by denying that they are due to a protective tariff. We take issue with them on this subject, and charge that excessive prices result in a large measure from the high tariff laws enacted and maintained by the Republican party and from trusts and commercial conspiracies fostered and encouraged by such laws, and we assert that no substantial relief can be secured for the people without import duties on the necessities of life are materially reduced and these commercial conspiracies broken up.

The Underwood law placed nearly all food products on the free list, and on the occasion of its signature by President Wilson, Oct. 3, 1913, Mr. Underwood said: "I have the utmost confidence in the new tariff law—I am absolutely confident that this law will reduce the cost of living in the United States."

The most recent confession of error on the part of the Democracy is contained in a retail price bulletin issued by the Department of Labor. The analysis of the bulletin states that "September 1914 the price of all food was 7.1 per cent higher than the average price for 1913." Further on: "For the eight years 1907 to 1914, considering all food combined, the highest price was reached in 1914."

Fresh meats were placed on the free list by the Underwood law, since the enactment of which our importations from Argentina, Australia, and Uruguay have reached astonishing figures, and yet the analysis informs us that "all meats were higher in 1914 than in any of the preceding seven years." The "Crop Reporter" recently published by the department of Agriculture shows that the prices received by raisers of food animals have declined since the enactment of the Underwood law, but the price of meat to the consumer in 1914 was the highest in seven years. The duty on sugar was reduced 25 per cent and will come in free after May 1, 1916, and yet the wholesale price on granulated sugar, refiners' net cash price, June 19, 1913, was 4.116 cents per pound, and on June 18, 1914, it was 4.214 cents per pound, quotations from Willet & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal. This 25 per cent reduction represented for the year ending March 1, last, a loss of revenue to the Government of $18,000,000.

If free trade does not reduce the cost of living, then the whole bottom drops out of the Democratic tariff argument, and that it certainly does not reduce the cost of living is proved by the investigation of the Department of Commerce.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOOTS FATHER

Will Marshall, Age Twelve, of Near Arlington, Fatally Wounds Os-
car Marshall, Age Sixty.

SHOT DISCHARGED IN HIS SIDE

Gun Explodes When Father Stops
to Inspect Apple Tree and
Hands it to His Son.

Oscar Marshall, 60 years old, a well known farmer, was accidentally shot and almost instantly killed by his twelve-year-old son, Will Marshall, yesterday afternoon about five o'clock. The shooting occurred in the orchard at the Marshall home, two miles northeast of Arlington.

The father and boy had been out in a field cutting weeds and had taken the shot gun along, thinking they might get a shot at a squirrel. They were returning to the house when the accident occurred. Mr. Marshall had just taken a shot at a bird, and while he was examining a tree in the orchard, handed the gun to the boy. The boy turned, and as he threw the gun over his shoulder, it exploded.

The charge from the gun entered Mr. Marshall's right side, almost tearing off the right arm. He was not over three feet from the gun when it exploded. The shot gun was double-barrelled. It is believed that Mr. Marshall had forgotten about another shell being in the gun when he handed it to the boy.

The boy, seeing what had happened, ran to the house and summoned aid. Mr. Marshall was dead when help reached his side and death was believed to have been almost instant.

Immediately following the shooting wild rumors of murder reached this city and Deputy Sheriff Sullivan and Policeman Yakey hurried to the scene. The coroner investigated and the boy is not held, as it is believed to have been purely accidental. The son was almost overcome by the tragedy and could hardly tell the story to the coroner and officers.

Mr. Marshall had lived in the Arlington neighborhood for many years and was highly respected. He is survived by his widow and five children. Dewey, Miss Louise, Will, and Mrs. Erna Woods and Mrs. Letha Winkler.

The funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at one thirty o'clock in the Arlington Christian church and burial will take place in the East Hill cemetery there.

Since the health survey of the city by the city board of health, it has been decided that there will be no more hog pens within the city limits. One man was ordered this week to move his pens and was given until next Monday to do so, under threats of prosecution. The health board found several hog pens within the city limits and believed they were very unsanitary and not healthy. Under the law the city health board has jurisdiction four miles outside of the city limits.

RETRACES STORY OF KILLING

Sanity Trial Today.

(By United Press.)
New York, July 9.—With Harry K. Thaw on the stand in his sanity trial this afternoon, the killing of Stanford White was retraced. He told the story over again.

"Did you kill White because he ruined Evelyn or because of his injury to other girls?" asked Attorney Cook.

"If Miss Nesbit had escaped I probably would never have paid any attention to him," said Thaw.

FLATROCK GETS OUT OF BANKS

For First Time in Years River Over-
flows in July and Lowlands
Are All Flooded.

WATER IS RECEDING TODAY

Government Register Shows 1.55
Inches of Water Fell in Less Than Two Hours.

For the first time in years Flatrock overflowed its banks in the month of July. The rain of Wednesday night was known to be very heavy, but very few people realized that it was heavy enough to cause the river to overflow in the lowlands. The river started to rise early yesterday morning and by last night all the surrounding lands were under water. The oldest residents here do not recall a time when the river has been as high at this time of the year. The water went down rapidly today and all danger of a flood passed.

According to the official government register at the home of Elwood Kirkwood at Mauzy, 1.55 inches of water fell in the two hours or less of rainfall on Wednesday night. Mr. Kirkwood stated today that this was the largest amount of rainfall at any one time since the first of the year, and was the most water for so short a time.

North of the city the water completely covered the fields in the lowlands. At the bridge east of the Jacob Parrish farm, the water was three feet over the road and it was impassable until late last evening. The water covered the pasture land of John Boyd, south of the city and early this morning the ball park was completely under water. The water at the ball park receded rapidly but was still standing next to the grand stand this afternoon. The water there for the most part is back water from the river.

A carnival company at the ball park called for help early this morning. A piano used there was hauled to this city. This part of the grounds dried off rapidly, however. The ground is completely saturated with water.

The first motor boat ever owned in Rushville, which has afforded a lot of pleasure to many people on Flatrock this summer, now reposes at the bottom of the river. Dr. Will C. Smith and Fred Caldwell, who have been living, together with their families, in the Green summer cottage, opposite the dam, were out sight-seeing yesterday afternoon taking advantage of the high water to go far up the river. The engine on the boat went "dead" and they were rowing back to the cottage. In passing under some trees someone in the boat grabbed a limb and the boat upset and the men had to swim to the shore.

The boat is owned by Dr. Frank Green and he has offered a reward for the recovery. It is expected that the boat will be located as soon as the water recedes. The boat could easily have gone over the dam as the water at one time was three feet over the dam. The Caldwell and Smith families became alarmed early yesterday morning and moved their things out of the cottage, but the water did not reach it.

On the south of the city the water did not approach the Jones training stable at a close enough distance to compel them to move out. The lowlands near the Big Four bridge is under water but the high stage is believed to have passed.

EXAMINATIONS TO BE JULY 28

Date For Tests of Children in Better Babies Contest is Announced Today.

HOURS NOT DESIGNATED YET

Attention of Mothers Directed to
Fact That No Invitations Are
Sent Out This Year.

It was announced today by those who are managing the better babies contest in connection with the Rush county chautauqua that the examinations of the babies entered in the contest will be held at the Graham school building Wednesday, July 28. The hours for the examination have not been definitely settled, but will be announced later.

The mental and physical tests will be made at that time and the winners of the medals will be announced Saturday afternoon of the chautauqua. There will be three first prizes to be awarded as follows: one to the best girl baby outside of the city of Rushville, one to the best boy baby outside the city of Rushville and the best boy or girl baby in the city.

The age limit this year was increased twelve months this year so that many babies in the contest last year might be entered again this year. Any baby between twelve and thirty-six months of age may have a chance at the medals.

Attention of mothers with eligible children is directed to the fact that no invitations or application blanks will be sent out this year because of the expense attached. That was necessary when the contest was first instituted here. But now any mother with a child within the designated age limit should feel free to enter. It is stated. The better babies contest committee today gave out the following publication:

"The Better Babies Contest is a popular yet scientific movement to insure better babies and a better race. It consists of entering, examining and awarding prizes to children on exactly the same basis principles that are applied to live stock shows. Mere beauty does not count. Physical and mental development only are considered. The Better Babies Contest insures a better race of Americans, because it teaches parents how to improve the physical condition of children already born and to protect those yet unborn. It arouses interest in the conservation of child life and health and in all forms of child welfare. It forges a connecting link between parents and teachers, between the homes and the scientific study of child life. It promotes civic interest in the children of the community."

NO VERDICT IS FILED YET

Coroner Barnett Expected to Exam-

Coroner Barnett has not yet filed his verdict on the death of Orville Andrews and Mandy McElfresh, whose deaths are believed to have resulted from a suicide pact. The coroner was expected here late this afternoon to finish the examination of witnesses. A further examination of the clothing worn by Orville Andrews resulted in the finding of the key to the rug factory where the suicide pact was carried out. The key was not found at first but last evening the key was located in one of his pockets.

MINNEHAHA ONE TO BE DESTROYED

Explosion on Vessel Preceding Fire
Was at 4:15 p. m. Wednesday
Time Mentioned by Holt.

CAPTAIN MAKES STATEMENT

(By United Press.)

Halifax, N. S., July 9.—The violent explosion which preceded the fire on the Minnehaha, that arrived here today, occurred at four-fifteen o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The time mentioned by Frank Holt, assailant of J. P. Morgan. Holt, before he committed suicide, said that he had placed a bomb on vessels sailing from New York July 3 timed to explode Wednesday afternoon, July 7, at four-fifteen o'clock. The story of the explosion as recited by Captain Claret of the Minnehaha practically makes certain that the Minnehaha was one marked for destruction by Holt.

The Minnehaha arrived here shortly before eleven o'clock. She was not allowed to dock and no one from the shore was permitted to go on board. Captain Claret would make no statement before noon.

GERMAN REPLY IS BEING CODED NOW

Answer to Second American Note in
Lusitania Case is Handed to Ambassador Gerard.

IS BELIEVED UNSATISFACTORY

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Berlin, (By Way of The Hague), July 9.—Clerks at the American embassy were today engaged in coding the German reply to the second American note regarding the Lusitania. The communication was handed to Ambassador Gerard last night and the work of preparing it for transmission to Washington began this forenoon.

The note is lengthy and because of the fact that it must be translated into English and coded with the greatest care the time of its receipt at Washington can not be accurately forecast.

It was generally believed that it would be unsatisfactory. The ambassador's forecast revealed its terms. Officials were hopeful, however, that it could be made the basis for further negotiations and that the situation would not become critical.

DRAWS $25 AND 30 DAYS IN JAIL

George M. Ray is Sentenced Today
by Judge Collins For Contempt
of Court.

DECLARES HE WILL APPEAL

Herald Editor Files Answer in Which
he Says Editorial Was Based
on "Common Rumor."

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., July 9.—George M. Ray, editor of the Herald, was today fined $25 and sentenced to serve thirty days in the Marion county jail for contempt of court. Judge Collins took this action after he had considered Ray's answer to the citation and Prosecutor Nuckler's reply. Ray said he would appeal.

Ray published an editorial in which he accused Judge Collins of exercising undue influence over the grand jury that indicted Thomas Taggart, Mayor Bell and over one hundred other Indiana politicians.

Ray today filed an answer to the charge for contempt of court in which he said the editorial he published concerning Judge Collins was based on "common rumor."

The case has a connection with the recent indictment of Thomas Taggart, and Mayor Joseph E. Bell and 126 other Indiana politicians, but it was uncertain whether Ray would have the backing of these prominent men in his fight.

The case was continued from July 1 in order that Ray might prepare an answer to the charges. When the case first came up Ray made the plea that he had not had time to investigate the charges and that he wished to employ an attorney although he said he had spent so much money lately for legal services that he did not know whether he could afford to retain counsel.

Ray was cited for contempt for the publication of an editorial in his to convey the impression to the publisher, which, it is charged, tended to that Judge Collins and others were attempting to coerce the Marion county grand jury into indicting Democrats, and that members of the grand jury were being induced improperly to return indictments.

The letter told Ott to beware. "You Sucker, we will get you if you don't keep quiet. You can't be much of a German or anything else," ran the letter.

Boston, July 7.—Recently an Everett policeman captured a small boy of six years in the act of stealing a jar of milk from a doorstep. At the station house a third degree inquisition resulted in the boy giving the names of four other lads who have been engaged in a series of misdemeanors that have been causing Everett citizens considerable annoyance.

The oldest of the lot is 14 and the youngest was the lad taken into custody. According to the young "desperado" each boy took oaths to be real bandits. The boy arrested recited the following as the text of the pledge: "I will be bad, just as bad as I know how and I will read up detective stories and such things to find new ways of being bad and if one of us gets caught and sent away, the rest of us will keep on being bad until we are all caught and sent to the same place. Then we will all escape and be bad until we are caught again."

DR. F. G. HACKLEMAN

ident Wilson in 1916. Listen to
this: "Several months ago I was not
impressed with the chances of a Democratic victory. The people
were blaming the Democratic party
for the hard times, and were declaring openly that they would vote to displace them next year. Just the opposite is heard now." Then he
hedges a little bit with this refreshing statement: "I have no means of
knowing whether he (the President)
will consent to a renomination, but
certainly if the Democrats can win
at all they can win with Wilson." He
concludes by commenting on improvement of business, but makes
no mention of the cause—the European war.

In delivering what proved to be his
swan song, in June of last year,
former Congressman Connolly said:
"I believe the people of this country
want to decide for themselves as to
the potentiality for good in their
public men."

Becoming inflated with self-generated "potentiality" Congressman
Connolly aspired to senatorial
laurels and sought to snatch the
wreath from the brow of Senator
Cummins in the last election. He
missed the wreath but the voters
of Iowa gave him a garland of im-
mortelles instead, and the obsequies
were simple. In the meantime the 3rd Iowa District which Mr. Connolly
had bamboozled for two years,
slipped into the safe and sane column and elected Burton E. Sweet, a Republican to Congress.

Civic Pride Lacking

There are many people in Rush-
ville who would like to see the city
park kept in good condition so that
it would be an attractive place. It is generally agreed that many things
could be done in the park to beautify
it. The general belief was when the Coliseum was erected there that
more interest would be taken in the
park and that it would come to be
a place for recreation but the Coliseum nor the public playgrounds offered no inducements for the authorities to fix up the park so that
would be desirable for something
more than a cow pasture.

The Daughters of the American Revolution sought to arouse the
spirit of pride in the city by starting
a movement to beautify the park.
Not long ago they planted some
trees in the park and built some
flower beds, but their efforts found
no response. But for the playgrounds and the chautauqua, the
park would be a mass of weeds.

There probably isn't a city any
place possessing a park with the
natural beauties of the park here
which neglects its opportunities the
way Rushville has. It is quite true
that some work was done on the
trees, and it was commendable too,
but that was a poor place to stop.
There is none to deny that the grass
in the park should be cut and a system of walks at least put in. The flower beds and other attractive
features could come in time. It appears that some civic pride should
be aroused in Rushville in some way
so that proper interest should be
taken in the park.

Muncie is confronted with the same
problem as Rushville, in so far as
parking automobiles is concerned.
The question has been before the city
council and Commercial Club there,
with a view to reaching some tangible solution. Muncie is not so well
fixed as Rushville because it has no
hitch yard. Rushville is fortunate in having one, but it does not offer a
solution of the automobile parking
problem. It is reported that the council intends to move slowly in
solving the problem. It is generally agreed that lining the streets
with automobiles and obstructing
traffic is an evil and the sooner it
is ended the better.

We were dutifully shocked when
women commenced to ride astride
and wear breeches, but we survived.
Now we have the "closer to nature"
women who dance bare legged on the
grass, and our sight is growing dim.
Tomorrow it will be "back to the Garden of Eden" and we'll just
naturally fall dead.

Before asking a man his opinion of the war be good enough to state
your own. Diplomats are plentiful now.

Between Europe, Huenrata and the devil Uncle Sam is getting peeved.

If General Huerta is really pining for his old time sulphuric activity he might swap jobs with the devil.

Some men are so impartial they cuss the dog, the cat and the wife all in the same breath.

HOOSIER HISTORY

Prepared For the United Press by
The Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.

Pioneer School Master

That the organs and faculties of the old time school master were in no danger from atrophy, is indicated in the following extract from a Hoosier School Master's diary; "We cleared land, rolled logs and burned brush, blazed out paths from our neighbors cabin to another—hunted deer, turkeys, otter and raccoons—
caught fish, dug ginseng, hunted bees
and the like and lived on the fat of
the land."

IS MANAGING ASSEMBLY

Glenn Henry Thomas, Well Known
Here, Manages Chautauqua There.

Glenn Henry Thomas, who is well known here by reason of the fact that he married Miss Mary Lewis of this city, is managing the Redpath chautauqua which is now being held in Newcastle. Mr. Thomas was for fifteen years a member of the Chicago Glee club, which appeared at the chautauqua here when Miss Lewis was a local school teacher, and Mr. Thomas became acquainted. The Chicago Glee club remained intact
for fifteen years with the same personnel.

SEGREGATION DOES NOT HELP WOMEN TO REFORM.

Cleveland, July 8.—In the mind
of Blanche Moulton, Queen of the Tenderloin until Cleveland wiped out
its segregated district a few weeks
ago, there is a picture of a family
hearth, and in her ears ring the
voices of two children who will call
her mother, after long years' when
they knew her only as "aunt."

Blanche Moulton will return to
normal life and marriage, for the
man who would marry her has for-
given her past, she says.

In her expensively furnished sitting room of the house that once was
the pride of the tenderloin, she stood
the other day with a dust cloth in her
hand and a big white apron protecting a plain gingham dress from the
dust. And she told a story of the
gay, false glamor of the underworld
that surprised those who had known
Blanche in the old days—just a week
or so ago.

"The easiest way? Faugh! It is the hardest way! There is nothing in
it—no real compensation when the
books are balanced; It's just plain
hell!"

That's the way Blanche pictured
the life she abandoned, after twenty-
nine years in the tenderloin.

"It's having always with you the
thought that you're an outcast. It's seeing the sneer on the faces of the
men who come to the district—it's never knowing a godd man. Every man who refused to come down here
had the respect of the women, even though they didn't know who he was.
The shop girl earning her stinky
wages is better off than the woman
of the tenderloin with silks and ten
pairs of shoes. People think I'm rich. It's a dream—there is not even
money in the easiest way."

Denver Woman Expresses Belief That Childless Couples Should

SOCIETY WOMEN CAUSE TALK

Two Prominent in "Four Hundred"
Take Homeless Little Folks to Rear in Their Homes.

(By United Press.)

Denver, Colo., July 9.—"It makes
me tired to hear a woman who has
no children and who is financially
able to care for a child, tell how
fond she is of children and how un-
happy she is in her childless condi-
tion," said Mrs. Edward Welles Collins, daughter of former governor
Routt who has herself adopted an
orphan girl.

"If she really were fond of children, she would mother one of the
poor orphan babies that plead for a
mother's love.

"A woman who can give a mother's love only to the child of her
own flesh is not really fond of children. She has affection for her own
child because it is a part of herself
—it is vanity more than affection.

"The true mother's love is a universal love—a love that embraces all
children.

"I have never seen a child that I could not love. I love the dirtiest
and ugliest along with the cleanest
and most beautiful."

Something of a stir was created
in Denver society when Mrs. Collins
and another of its prominent young
matrons—Mrs. J. J. Benedict, daughter of Junius F. Brown who left a large fortune—adopted child-
ren. The Benedicts took in a 6-
months-old orphan boy. Mrs. Collins now has a 4-year-old foster
daughter adopted eight months ago.
Mrs. Collins believes it is the duty
of the childless woman of means to
take into her heart and home some
motherless child.

"When I think of the comfortable
homes that need children and the
children that need homes I could
weep. Why can't they be brought together? Many women go through life childless, without missing the
love of children. Some are women
who are talented—who find their
music, their painting or their writing
sufficient. Others are women who
make bridge playing their life work.
It is just as well that these remain childless. Think of the poor
children who could have to call such
women mothers."

Mrs. Collins, who is a talented
vocalist, stated she finds just as
much time for her art since she
adopted the little girl as she found
previously.

Three children born to the Bene-
dicts died in infancy.

Creed, the two years-old-son of Mr.

will take place in the Pleasant Ridge

NO GAME HERE THIS SUNDAY

Because Park is Under Water Director Believe Playing Would be Almost Impossible.

CONNEERSVILLE JULY 18

Remington Suffers Loss When Bridge Washes Away and Will Play Here Week From Sunday.

The game scheduled between the Rushers and the Perkins-Campbell team for Sunday afternoon has been called off on account of the high water and as a result the Rushville team will be inactive Sunday. The water completely covered the diamond this morning and at a late hour today was up to the first seats in the grand stand. The club directors after looking over the grounds believed that a game for Sunday would be impossible.

The Connersville team has been booked for its first appearance of the season here one week from Sunday. This will be good news for the fans as these two teams are ancient rivals. Manager Remington suffered a heavy loss yesterday from the flood that hit Connersville. His bridge over the river to the ball park was washed away and it will be impossible for Remington to play there for at least three weeks. For this reason the Connersville team was secured for the attraction here July 18. The loss to Mr. Remington will be quite heavy financially.

The Connersville team will play in Richmond this Sunday. The breaking up of the Indiana State League will have little effect on the class of ball to be played here. With Connersville booked and Newcastle booked the fans will get to see their favorite teams in action.

The Rushville team will be strengthened where it needs be and from this time on the team will play ball.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Blue Ridge Christian Union church Sunday morning at ten o'clock and burial will take place in the cemetery there.

MAKE OR LOSE FORTUNE FAST

Races at Panama Exposition Demonstrate One Way to Separate Yourself From Money

SOME INSTANCES CITED

Spriggan, Who Won $10,000 Purse Purchased at an Auction in February for $750

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, July 9.—Buy a fast harness horse and make a fortune over night. Also if you have a fortune to lose quicker than instantly—just purchase a fast harness horse.

It was demonstrated during the recent harness race meet held at the Panama Pacific Exposition that either of these theories for grabbing a fortune or losing it may be followed with success. In other words, despite the encroachment of the automobile upon the horse domain, racing is still a great little game in which the chances of big gains or heavy losses are just as great as ever.

The Exposition meet was marked by racing for some of the richest purses in the history of the harness game. Two horses which were the central figure in the richest events—the $20,000 trot and $20,000 pace—furnish the theme for the story.

The $20,000 trot was won by Spriggan, a big rangy horse owned by two San Francisco horsemen. Spriggan won $10,000 for his owners when he led a field of twelve to the wire in straight heats.

And they paid but $750 for him at an auction in February. The man who let go of the horse at this price was none other than R. J. MacKenzie, the millionaire Canadian horseman. Where MacKenzie pocketed a few hundred, the purchasers of Spriggan pocketed thousands four months afterward.

Now for the other side of the story. The favorite for the $20,000 pace in the early betting was Dr. Burns Jr., owned by Ireland and Leach, of Detroit. Dr. Burns was one of the most sensational performers on the eastern tracks. He was a big stake winner and it is doubtful whether $20,000 would have bought him.

Along in March while working a mile in Los Angeles a man stepped out on the track as Dr. Burns headed into the stretch. His driver had to pull the horse up sharply and he slipped on the wet track, wrenching his leg. Arriving in San Francisco Dr. Burns was brought along slowly, and a couple of weeks before the $20,000 pace was scheduled showed a mile in 2:06 1-2 without giving any evidence of the injury suffered at Los Angeles bothering him.

A week before the big race he was started in one of the regular events. When the second heat was over it was seen Dr. Burns' leg was in bad shape. His value as a race horse shriveled to nothing. For days afterward Dr. Burns was led into the surf in the hope that salt water treatment would improve his leg so that he might be safely shipped back to his home. Dr. Burns will spend his time this summer on the Ireland and Leach farm near Detroit instead of serving as one of the biggest money getters of his owners.

WEILMAN JINX OF THE TIGERS

St. Louis Pitcher Has Beaten Jennings' Team Consistently This Year as in The Past

DID IT TWICE IN ONE SERIES

A. Rankin Johnson Also Had Clark Griffith's Goat Beating The Great Watler Everytime.

BY GEORGE H. HOLMES

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, July 9.—Hardly a baseball season passes without producing a "Jinx" pitcher—one that is a mediocre performer against six clubs, and is a world-beater against the seventh. He simply "has it on" that club. It isn't his speed, it isn't his curves, or his control, or a change of pace, or anything like that, Old Baseball men don't attempt to explain it except by that one word J-I-N-X.

This season's mysterious person is tall lanky Carl Weilman of the St. Louis Browns, and the goat club is Hughie Jennings Tigers. This season, and, in fact ever since he kicked his way into the big show, the lanky Weilman has beaten the Tigers consistently. A short time ago he beat them twice in the same series, and that was all that was needed to convince the Detroiters that he is their Jinx.

Yet Weilman will go up against a weak hitting club like either Washington or Cleveland and they'll all but knock his brains out. Cobb, Crawford, Veach, Bush and the rest of that famed wrecking crew look like bushers against the lean Brown, while some rookie will go up and plant the ball over the fence.

Dusting off the records in the dim archives of baseball history, it is seen that there have been many Jinxes. It will be remembered that for a long time the Cincinnati Reds couldn't beat Mathewson. Of course, there were a lot of other clubs in the same fix, but they did manage to sneak a game from the Old Master now and then, but the Reds—never.

A case a little more recent is that of A. Rankin Johnson, who beat the Washington club, Walter Johnson up, every time he worked against it. Rankin wasn't a wonderful pitcher, he was just average, if that, and after he leaped to the Reds he had a lot of difficulty in winning games. But he had Clark Griffith's goat.

Tom Hughes, the old Washington pitcher, cast the same sort of a spell over Cleveland. When Tom was in his prime, Washington never was out of the cellar. About all the games the Senators won were due to his prowess. He didn't look so good against other clubs, but Cleveland had no chance at all.

Eddie Summers, the old Tiger star made the Athletics eat out of his hand during his sojourn in the American league. One day, the last season he had, he beat them a double-header and Connie Mack heaved a sigh of relief when Summers hit the toboggan the next season.

Jim Scott of the White Sox also has some sort of a charm over the Mackmen though not to so marked a degree.

WILL BE PLAYED TUESDAY

Game Between Red Men and K. of C's Postponed by Flood.

The ball game scheduled for this afternoon in the Fraternal League between the K. of C's and the Red Men was postponed until next Tuesday on account of the condition of Edgewater park. The heavy rain of Wednesday night caused the river to overflow and the park is under water. There was no chance to play unless canoes were used. This was to have been the opening game of the league and will be carried over until Tuesday afternoon. The game will be called at three-fifteen o'clock.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. ONCE UNPOPULAR, BECAME HERO

CONSTANTINE OF GREEK NATION

Blamed For Disaster In War of 1897, He Planned Exile, but Gained Fame In Balkans.

Son George, Like Father, Was Educated In Germany and Lacked Hold on His People.

KING CONSTANTINE OF GREECE.
King Constantine of Greece succeeded to the throne on the assassination of his father, King George, by the regicide Schinas March 19, 1913. It was expected he would take the name of Constantine XIII, reviving the old Byzantine line, but he contented himself with the simple Constantine I.
He was born at Athens Aug. 2, 1893. He was educated by tutors obtained from Leipzig and from early boyhood showed effects of German influence. He married Princess Sophia of Prussia, sister of Kaiser Wilhelm, at Athens Oct. 27, 1899.

"SWAP WIVES LIKE HORSES."

Supreme Court Justice Makes Caustic Comment on Divorce Cases.
In the course of a divorce case in which the husband admitted being a bigamist, Supreme Court Justice Frederick E. Crane of Brooklyn delivered a brief but crackling philippic against American marriage and divorce conditions.
"Marriage is the cheapest thing under our law," snapped the justice. "Marry one day and then come back in court the following morning and get divorced! Swapping wives and husbands has become as common as swapping horses in our country. If we want polygamy why don't we come out bravely and establish it here?"
"We judges, the supposed guardians of the law, are forced practically to sit back and wink at felonies and watch the offenders go free."
"Perhaps I sometimes say too much in court," Justice Crane added later in his chamber, but he didn't smile when he said it.

NEW WAY OF MAKING LIVING.

Man Gets $10 a Week From City to Prevent Him Committing Suicide.
A new way of making a living has been revealed in Atlanta, Ga. C. S. Stafford, ex-proprietor of a paint shop, is getting $10 a week from the city to prevent him from committing suicide.
Becoming ill five years ago, Stafford was taken to the City Detention hospital, and when he recovered he refused to move out. Threatened with forcible ejection, he declared he would commit suicide. The health authorities decided to put him on the payroll at $10 a week.

AUTHORS RUN AMBULANCES.

"Queed" Harrison and Stanton Are With American Hospital in France.
One of the ambulance chauffeurs making the most runs to bring in wounded with the American ambulance in France is H. S. Harrison, better known as "Queed" Harrison, from his "best seller" book of two years ago. He hates the nickname, but everybody calls him by it.
Mr. Stanton, son of Elizabeth Cady Stanton and himself an author, is one of the orderlies in the American hospital in Paris.

the Russian army, and was determined on quitting Greece forever. But in 1911 the national legislature by an overwhelming vote restored him to his former post as inspector general of the Greek army. Then came the Balkan war and Constantine soon became the hero of his people.
He brought the Greek army to a state of high efficiency and led it to many victories, not the least of which were those at Saloniki and Janina. Several New Yorkers headed the committee which presented him with a jeweled sword as a memento of these achievements.
Complete accord has not always ruled in the domestic affairs of Constantine. While there was no whisper of scandal, he and Sophia lived apart for a time and there seemed little prospect of a reconciliation until after the victories in the Balkans.
Curiously enough, there is a very old Greek tradition which says that when a royal Constantine weds a Princess Sophia their son shall reign in Constantinople and revive the ancient Byzantine empire.
George of Greece is the eldest son of Constantine and Sophia. He was born July 7, 1890, and is not married. His engagement to the beautiful Princess Elizabeth, eldest daughter of King Ferdinand of Roumania, was announced two years ago, subsequently denied and then later reannounced. Early in the present year it was stated that the wedding had been scheduled for the spring, but postponed on account of the war.
Like his father, George received his education and military training in Germany under the care of his uncle, the kaiser. Because of this there have been reports from time to time that the Greeks looked with more favor on Prince Nicholas, brother of Constantine.
George has two brothers and two sisters. Prince Alexander, born in 1893; Princess Helena, born in 1896; Prince Paul, born in 1901, and Princess Irene, born in 1904.
Prince Nicholas commanded the Greek artillery in the Balkan wars. He received his military education in France. His wife is the Grand Duchess Helena of Russia, daughter of the late Grand Duke Vladimir. Thus instead of the influence of Dowager Queen Olga being minimized in his case, as in that of King Constantine, by a German wife, the influence of Princess Helena is all exercised against the German tendency of the family.
King Ferdinand of Roumania, father of Princess Elizabeth, is a Hohenzollern, while the princess' mother is Princess Mary of Great Britain and Ireland.

LIFE SENTENCE OF SOBRIETY.

Court Puts Woman Under Permanent Ban Against Drinking.
Magistrate Harry Miller at Jamaica, N. Y., sentenced Mrs. Margaret Askins to "eternal sobriety." She accepted the life sentence with thanks and left the court with her husband, whose plea to the court won for her that sentence instead of another.
Mrs. Askins, who is thirty-three years old, was charged with being an improper guardian of her children. Agent C. Harstedt of the Children's society testified that the woman threatened to kill her children and chased her husband with a carving knife.
The husband said his wife would be all right if she let liquor alone, so the "eternal" sentence was imposed.

SET OFF BY HUMAN SPARK.

Man's Electrified Body Caused Big Explosion, Expert Thinks.
The theory that a man's body may contain enough electricity to set off a charge of explosive has been advanced by a British government expert on combustibles to account for an explosion at Stowmarket which resulted in the death of four men.
Major Cooper-Key, the expert, expressed the opinion that one of the men had accumulated electricity in his body, "and had not earthed himself." He added: "It was an exceptional accident, which could probably have been prevented by a metal stud in the worker's rubber overshoe. A regulation to this effect will probably be made."

HOPES FOR BLACK COTTON.

Planter Tries to Make It Grow 'So It Won't Need Dyeing.'
A southern cotton planter who is trying to make a black cotton grow says: "God gave men five primal sorts of cotton—white, red, brown, yellow and black. The black has been lost somewhere in the mists of the ages, but every experienced breeder knows that so long as the species exists the lost variety can be restored."
"To this end I am working. The start was made by planting deep green lint cotton, red lint cotton and brown lint cotton in my experimental patch. If I can get the three to come into blossom at the same time black lint is assured."

WILL BOOK MOVIE IN CHAIN

Big Broadway Theater is Acquired and Others in Many Larger Cities Are Considered.

(By United Press.)

New York, July 9.—A new movement in the movie world that will revolutionize even that startling and sensational industry is about completed and the plans of the organizers entertain an extension of the moving picture business on a scale heretofore not even dreamed of. E. Aitken is the leader behind the movement and associated with him are D. W. Griffith, producer of "The Birth of a Nation," Thomas H. Ince and Mack Sennett, the producer of the famous funny movies. Sennett has organized more comics on the screen than any other one man in the business.
The plan is to book movie productions in a regular chain of theaters throughout the country, the same as legitimate shows are now seen. This will raise the movies to the level of regular theatrical plays and will assure people in every section of the country an opportunity of seeing the best screen pictures that are being made anywhere today. The price of admission probably will also be raised but the backers of the new combination believe their productions will be worth the new price scale.
Aitken has announced that a big Broadway theater has been acquired and that others in every large city in the country are under consideration. The first showing of the new combination's plays will be in New York and then will start on the round of other cities, the same as road companies do.
It is predicted by Aitken the new departure will overshadow anything of the kind ever before attempted and that the weekly cost of the films released will be near $5,000,000. Wall street is behind the movement in a financial way and large sums of money will be expended on branch offices in London, Paris, Vienna, Petrograd, Rome, South America and all big American cities, which will also act as producing centers.

DECENDANT OF FAMOUS

HAL FAMILY TO RACE JULY 19

Cleveland, O., July 9.—When Grand Circuit race bugs gather here July 19, Pop Geers, veteran of a thousand races, will spring on them another member of the famous Hal family, with whom he hopes to burn up the track this year.
Pop has gained his chief fame through work with horses of this line. The latest Hal protege is Hal Connor. Bugs will see him in action at North Randall in the Edwards pacing stake.
Pop has always been partial to the Hal family of racers. Brown Hal, champion race stallion in the days of the high wheeled sulky, and considered by many the greatest sire of pacers, was the first. Then came Star Pointer, the first to break the two minute mark; Hal Pointer, 2:01—2; Direct Hal, unbeaten stake pacer of 1902, who died the other day at Elwood, Md., and the Assessor and half a dozen others of the Hal family with which Pop has pulled down big money.
Hal Connor was sired by Argot Hal, a two guinea stallion, the only fast trotter to come from the famous family.
Geers isn't forcing his brown stallion out at Billings park these days, but he admits that Hal Connor has all the speed of his famous ancestors—and maybe some more.

Beginning tomorrow night the Arlington band will give weekly concerts at Arlington. The concerts will be held each Saturday night throughout the summer.

Gold Plated Doorknobs.

In some of the $25,000 a year flats on Fifth avenue, New York, the hardware is gold plated. Hinges, window brackets, fixtures, door handles, key plates are all treated with gold before being placed in position. All that is required to keep gold in fine condition is a light rubbing with a piece of dry leather. No polish is necessary, and the woodwork near this yellow hardware is never tarnished. Silver plating on white metal is used on the trim in the dining room. Nine coats of paint are spread on the walls of the dining rooms in these magnificent flats, the same care being used as for the paneling of a motorcar. The walls, instead of being highly glazed, have a soft, silky finish.—Pittsburgh Press.

Two of Them.

Miss Paul was one of the teachers at the mission Sunday school. One Sunday the subject of the lesson was "The Second Commandment," and Miss Paul began by asking little Adelbert Dugan the question:
"Now, Adelbert, have we any idols in this country?"
For a moment the boy hesitated and then replied:
"Yes, ma'am. Me dad's idle and me uncle too."—Household Journal.

On Tick.

Buying "on tick" is not new slang, but goes back to the seventeenth century. It is stated in a letter dated 1661, "The Mermaid tavern is lately broke, our ticks amounting to £1,500." And in another document a little later it is said, "Every one runs upon tick."

Placing the Blame.

"Young lady, that young man who comes to see you stays outrageously late."
"Well, it's your fault, papa."
"My fault?"
"Yes, mamma told him he need not go until you came."—Houston Post.

A More Important Question.

"Darling," he said, "would you continue to love me if I were to be poor all my life?"
"My dear," she asked him, "would you continue to love me if you should chance to become a millionaire?"—Detroit Free Press.

Advice.

"Kicked into Literature."
Son of an adventurous naval captain, Rolf Boldrewood, or, to give him his real name, Thomas Alexander Browne, the author, had one of the most romantic careers in the annals of literature. Pioneer squatter in early life in Victoria, he made such good use of his opportunities that while still in the twenties his check was good for a quarter of a million. Then, if unfortunately for himself, luckily for novel readers, a long drought killed off his flocks and herds and compelled him to enter the government service as a stipendiary magistrate. Shortly after this he happened to be kicked by a horse. This led to his being laid up, and to while away the tedious hours he wrote an Australian sketch called "The Kangaroo Rush." He sent it to the Cornhill, which accepted it, and so, as he used to say merrily, "he was kicked into literature."—London Opinion.

THIRTY-ONE ARE KNOWN DEAD NOW

Dead Toll in Cincinnati Tornado at Forty-Five

PROPERTY LOSS OVER MILLION

At Least Six Are Buried in Hulks of Sunken Steamboats—About

150 Are Injured

(By United Press.)

Cincinnati, O., July 9.—Thirty-one known dead, with an estimated total of forty-five lives lost and property loss of over one million dollars, is the latest summing up of the havoc wrought by Wednesday night's tornado.

Police searching for missing persons stated today they believe those unaccounted for are dead. At least six are believed to be buried in the hulks of sunken steamboats in the Ohio river. About one hundred and fifty are injured, some seriously.

A succession of tragedies were developed and pathetic incidents were so numerous and widespread that the human mind could hardly grasp the magnitude of the calamity that had come almost without warning, and had occupied less than 10 minutes in its enactment. Many homes were saddened by the death or maiming of loved ones.

Eleven members of two families, the Cohens of Eight street, and the Tennebaums, of Sixth street, cousins were killed by being buried under the debris of their homes. Other fatalities were scattered over the city. Above all the dreadful harvest of death and desolation marked by a train of wreckage and human suffering stood forth the sublime truth that mankind is pitifully helpless in a contest with the forces of nature.

That the storm was made up of cyclonic waves was demonstrated by the odd pranks that were played. It was a wild orgy and rampage of the elements. Particularly on the hill-tops did the wind display its weird eccentricity. In some places its intensity varied, moving in eddies of irresistible power, wrecking one house and leaving another within a few feet untouched, and in others as balmy and harmless as a zephyr.

The elemental hand was laid heaviest upon the lower part of the city, and for once the surrounding hills did not shelter the basin in which the older part of Cincinnati lies. In the morgue yesterday were more dead than ever reposed in that gruesome place at one time. The faces of some of the victims were distorted with terror, their bodies marred, while others met a merciful end so quickly that their countenances were peaceful and without trace of pain.

Considering the suddenness of the visitation it appears that the toll of lives is not large, and the thousands at summer resorts, in pleasure craft on the river and variously engaged in the pursuit of amusement may feel grateful for their escape.

Democratic Committeeman Wants Government Owned Warehouses

(By United Press.)

Grand Forks, N. D., July 8.—The Democratic National platform in 1916 will provide for the establishing of government owned warehouses for grain and produce if the efforts of the state committeemen in North Dakota are successful, according to a statement made today by F. O. Hellstrom, candidate for the governorship on the Democratic ticket at the last election and now a candidate for national committeeman. The provision in the platform if adopted will also provide for government grading and relugation of grain besides a feature making it possible for farmers to borrow money on eighty per cent of the crop stored in the warehouse and valued at an average value for the past twenty years.

Committeemen in this state will be elected next March.

The present year bids fair to be one of the most prosperous among many bounteous years for Indiana farmers. With the world at war and the agriculturists of the struggling nations drafted from their peaceful and productive pursuits to the colors, it is incumbent upon America, the great neutral agricultural country of the western hemisphere to feed the world. This means high prices for products, and Indiana farmers are already reasonably assured of a generous harvest. In an appeal to the farmers of the state the Indiana Commission for Relief in Belgium says as follows:

"Surrounded as is America, with peace and plenty, permit us to call your attention to the sad plight of a heroic little nation, once prosperous in its agricultural pursuits and manufacturing industries, and now desolate and in a state of chaos as result of a cruel war brought on by circumstances beyond its control. We refer to the pitiful condition of Belgium, where more than five millions of the civil population are today without means of sustenance other than such as is contributed to them gratuitously by the nations of the world not engaged in the present conflict. Of these neutral nations America, being the largest and most prosperous, must of course contribute the greater share.

"The Commission for Relief in Belgium has organized the several states of the union and is appealing to the generosity of the prosperous American people to contribute their part to this most charitable cause. The Indiana committee of this commission is at present moment organizing in every county in this state, a local committee to make more vividly plain to the people within its borders the actual needs of the Belgian people, and to solicit food and funds for their effective aid.

"The committee hopes that this great state may be able to send to starving Belgium an 'Indiana ship' laden with the food products of the state, and with provender purchased by such cash funds as may be contributed from within the state. Our surrounding sister states have done as much, and Indiana, as a matter of state pride, ought not to be left behind her neighbors.

"To you, farmers of Indiana, an appeal will be made by your local county committee that each of you contribute at harvest time a small fractional part of your wheat crop toward the carrying of this 'Indiana ship.' It is the belief of this community that wheat should constitute the main contribution of the farmers of this state, since wheat is the leading agricultural product of Indiana of high nutritive value. Assuredly any and all articles of food possessing high nutritive value at low cost are to be desired as a part of the cargo of the 'Indiana ship.' All money donated this committee for this cause will be turned into food within the state insofar as is practicable to do so.

"In conclusion, we appeal to the prosperous farmers of Indiana to do their share as a matter of state pride as well as a matter of benevolent charity toward the carrying of the 'Indiana ship,' and we sincerely trust that you will harken to the call when you are approached for a contribution by your local committee. In the name of the people of suffering Belgium, we thank you for your Christian generosity."

INCREASES WITH THE DECREASES

Cost of Living Goes up as Private

Business And Government Revenues Decline

GOVERNMENT REPORTS SHOW

Recalled Protective Tariff Was Denounced as Raid on Working-man's Pantry

Washington, July 8.—The cost of living advances as private business and Government revenues decline. The foreign food producer gleefully pockets the free trade margin promised the consumer. The farmer's prices are set by his foreign competitor and the laboring man is without the wherewithal to purchase from either. These are facts brought to light by Government reports.

The argument which stood out more prominently than any other in the tariff controversy of the past years was the contention of the Democrats that the prime influence on the cost of living was the tariff. They denounced the protective policy as a raid on the pantry of the workingman, and a tribute exacted from the very warp and woof of the cloth in which he wore. Speaker Champ Clark cried from the housetops, "the cost of living by reason of the high tariff and trusts has become so high that it is with extreme difficulty that millions of people manage to live at all."

The first plank in the Democratic platform of 1912 declared for "tariff reform," and read as follows:—

"The high cost of living is a serious problem in every American home. The Republican party, in its platform, attempts to escape from responsibility for present by denying that they are due to a protective tariff. We take issue with them on this subject, and charge that excessive prices result in a large measure

from the high tariff laws enacted and maintained by the Republican party and from trusts and commercial conspiracies fostered and encouraged by such laws, and we assert that no substantial relief can be secured for the people without import duties on the necessities of life are materially reduced and these commercial conspiracies broken up.

The Underwood law placed nearly all food products on the free list, and on the occasion of its signature by President Wilson, Oct. 3, 1913, Mr. Underwood said: "I have the utmost confidence in the new tariff law—I am absolutely confident that this law will reduce the cost of living in the United States."

The most recent confession of error on the part of the Democracy is contained in a retail price bulletin issued by the Department of Labor. The analysis of the bulletin states that "September 1914 the price of all food was 7.1 per cent higher than the average price for 1913." Further on: "For the eight years 1907 to 1914, considering all food combined, the highest price was reached in 1914."

Fresh meats were placed on the free list by the Underwood law, since the enactment of which our importations from Argentina, Australia, and Uruguay have reached astonishing figures, and yet the analysis informs us that "all meats were higher in 1914 than in any of the preceding seven years." The "Crop Reporter" recently published by the department of Agriculture shows that the prices received by raisers of food animals have declined since the enactment of the Underwood law, but the price of meat to the consumer in 1914 was the highest in seven years. The duty on sugar was reduced 25 per cent and will come in free after May 1, 1916, and yet the wholesale price on granulated sugar, refiners' net cash price, June 19, 1913, was 4.116 cents per pound, and on June 18, 1914, it was 4.214 cents per pound, quotations from Willet & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal. This 25 per cent reduction represented for the year ending March 1, last, a loss of revenue to the Government of $18,000,000.

If free trade does not reduce the cost of living, then the whole bottom drops out of the Democratic tariff argument, and that it certainly does not reduce the cost of living is proved by the investigation of the Department of Commerce.
